About

Carolina Caycedo’s La Siembra is a 2020–2022 Borderlands Fellowship commissioned project and has been supported by research assistance, production grants, and curatorial guidance by the Vera List Center for Art and Politics at The New School and the Center for Imagination in the Borderlands at Arizona State University. It is presented in collaboration with Union Settlement with support by El Museo del Barrio. Special thanks to Dimitri Gatanas, Urban Garden Center for their donation of the Shadbush tree (Almelanchier arborea).

The Vera List Center for Art and Politics is a research center and a public forum for art, culture, and politics. It was established at The New School in 1992—a time of rousing debates about freedom of speech, identity politics, and society’s investment in the arts. A leader in the field, the center is a nonprofit that serves a critical mission: to foster a vibrant and diverse community of artists, scholars, and policymakers who take creative, intellectual, and political risks to bring about positive change.

The Center for Imagination in the Borderlands is an Indigenous space at Arizona State University where students, faculty, and guests catalyze and constellate stories, knowledge systems, and language within and across our many borderlands through conversation and performance. The center was founded in 2020 by poet and MacArthur Fellow Natalie Diaz (Mojave, Akimel O’odham) who serves as its director.

Union Settlement is an on-the-ground resource for East Harlem residents of all ages, and a passionate advocate for the needs of underserved communities. Since opening our doors in 1895, we have brought education, wellness and community-building programs to our neighborhood, empowering New Yorkers with opportunities to better their lives. By helping our neighbors realize their goals, we build the vitality and success of East Harlem.

The Vera List Center for Art and Politics is pleased to present La Siembra, a performance and roundtable discussion convened by 2020–2022 Borderlands Fellow Carolina Caycedo in collaboration with Union Settlement on Saturday, May 7 at 2pm. Caycedo returns to her September 2021 vigil and pagamento that was hosted in the context of her installation Genealogy of Struggle in El Museo del Barrio’s Estamos Bien – La Trienal 20/21. Compostable items from the vigil have been nurturing the soil in the community garden at Union Settlement, where Caycedo is now planting a memorial tree and installing a sonic marker for murdered environmental activists. The roundtable discussion includes Arizona water protectors Nellie Jo David and Amber Ortega, and Tatiana Roa Avendaño, an environmentalist, educator, and researcher at the environmental organization CENSAT Agua Viva. The discussion is moderated by Romy Opperman, Mellon Postdoctoral Fellow in Philosophy at The New School for Social Research.

Tatiana Roa Avendaño is an environmental activist, educator and researcher of Censat Agua Viva, a Bogotá-based NGO working on communication, environmental education and the promotion of alternative development models. As an activist she has fought to “leave fossils in the ground,” being part of networks such as Oilwatch and Alianza Colombia Libre de Fracking. Tatiana participates in the Latin American group Energy and Equity and in the Ecosocial Pact of the South. Tatiana is an engineer and holds a master’s degree in Latin American Studies from the UASB of Quito, Ecuador. She is a PhD candidate at CEDLA – University of Amsterdam.

Carolina Caycedo is a London-born Colombian multidisciplinary artist known for her performances, video, artist’s books, sculptures, and installations that examine environmental and social issues. Her work contributes to the construction of environmental historical memory, as a fundamental element for non-repetition of violence against human and non-human entities. Among others, she held residencies at the DAAD in Berlin, and The Huntington Libraries, Art Museum, and Botanical Gardens in San Marino, California; received funding from Creative Capital, California Community Foundation, and Prince Claus Fund; participated in the Chicago Architecture, São Paulo, Istanbul, Berlin, Venice, and Whitney Biennials. Recent and upcoming solo shows include Care Report at Muzeum Sztuki in Łódź, Poland; Wanaawna, Rio Hondo and Other Spirits at Orange County Museum of Art; Cosmoatarrayas at ICA Boston; and From the Bottom of the River at MCA Chicago. Caycedo is the 2020 Wanlass Artist in Residence at Occidental College in Los Angeles. She is a member of the Los Angeles Tenants Union and the Rios Vivos Colombia Social Movement.

Nellie Jo David is a Tohono O’odham environmental justice activist and member of the TOHRN (Tohono O’odham Hemajkam Rights Network). David holds a Juris Doctorate and a certificate in indigenous law and policy from the University of Arizona.

Romy Opperman is a Mellon Postdoctoral Fellow in Philosophy at The New School for Social Research. My research bridges Africana, continental, decolonial, environmental, and feminist philosophy to foreground issues of racism and colonialism for environmental ethics and justice.

Amber Ortega is a Hia-Ced O’odham water and land protector and Southern Arizona border activist.
Vera List Center Fellowship

Vera List Center Fellowships support the development and presentation of ambitious art and research projects by national and international emerging artists, writers, scholars, and activists. Since 1994, the VLC Fellowship program has supported outstanding individuals at key moments in their early- and mid-careers, especially those who are members of underrepresented communities in the art world and those who would otherwise struggle to find support because of the experimental, political, and/or research-intensive nature of their work. The appointments provide the VLC Fellows with the opportunity to draw from the curatorial, academic, and professional resources of the Vera List Center and The New School. As commissions, the resulting fellowship projects are presented to the public through the Vera List Center’s interdisciplinary public programs and institutional networks.

The Borderlands Fellowship is a joint initiative of the Center for Imagination in the Borderlands (CIB) at Arizona State University and the Vera List Center for Art and Politics (VLC) at The New School in New York City. The Borderland Fellowships are awarded every two years to two individual artists/scholars/thinkers that pair the distinct institutional resources of the CIB and VLC in order to support research projects that help create communities across different geographical, cultural, and political landscapes engaging the public as well as students at both sites. The fellowships focus on the relevance of place, thus seeking to support and apply an Indigenous lens to reflect on questions of borderlands.

Seminar 12—Breaking Protocols: Desire Lines
Online
6:00–7:30 pm

Breaking Protocols: Desire Lines is the final seminar in the Vera List Center’s As for Protocols series. It brings together the artist duo Rashaun Mitchell + Silas Riener, with dance artist and audio describer Tess Dworman, architect Jing Liu, and performance curator and scholar Noémie Solomon to examine the notion of “desire lines” and to reflect on the questions: what do you desire from the institutions you’re a part of and that are a part of you? The seminar is co-convened with Joshua Lubin-Levy (Part-Time Lecturer, Eugene Lang College of Liberal Arts, The New School).

Studies into Darkness: The Perils and Promise of Freedom of Speech Book Launch
The New School, Glass Box Theater
55 West 13th Street, ground floor, New York
6:30–9:00 pm

Studies into Darkness: The Perils and Promise of Freedom of Speech (Amherst College Press and Vera List Center, 2022) provides a practical and historical guide to free speech discourse and combines it with poetic responses to the contemporary crises around free expression. This program brings together the book’s editors Carin Kuoni and Laura Raicovich with several contributors, including artists Mendi + Keith Obadike, who will present their performance In The Mouth of This Dragon.
